“ My prayers are with Brandon Orr & his family at this time. None of this seems or feels real I just start breaking out into tears every time I see his picture. Brandon will surely be missed and remembered for who he was along with all of the other lost souls gone at a very young age and I thank god every day for saving my life! Rest In Peace B.O

“ I will always miss and love you Brandon. We were really close at one time and I had always hoped we would find that again. I guess everybody has their differences and their demons and it took us down different roads but I will always cherish the memories we made even just sitting around talking about dogs for hours on end. I hope you have found peace and tranquility now. I love you brother... goodbye
