

Gilbert Soesbee

November 17, 1956 - March 28, 2026

Gilbert Soesbee, 1956-2026

Gilbert Soesbee, 69, of Newport, died on Saturday, March 28.

Soesbee retired in 2000 as the managing editor of The Newport Plain Talk. He had also served for a number of years as the news editor of the local newspaper. He retired early due to his health, but he returned after about a year to cover local court for a few years.

Before reporting for the Plain Talk, Soesbee worked as an intern in Lenoir City, where he covered the infamous snail darter fish that halted construction of the Tellico Dam for a time.

At the Plain Talk, Soesbee was well-known for his coverage of local court and government. Court coverage extended into a story that continued for years: the Pigeon River's pollution by the former Champion International paper mill in Canton, North Carolina. For his coverage, Soesbee won two first place awards presented by the Tennessee Press Association.

In retirement, Soesbee was a voracious reader, especially of history and constitutional law. He particularly had enjoyed combining both interests when he joined the Newport Theater Guild as Hornbeck in "Inherit the Wind." He also collected rock and alternative music, especially on vinyl.

He was a drummer in the Pisgah High School band in Canton before going to the University of Tennessee at Knoxville where he graduated in 1979 with a bachelor's degree in journalism.

He was raised in the Baptist faith in his hometown of Canton, North Carolina, where he sang in a variety of productions at First Baptist of Canton.

Soesbee was preceded in death by his parents, Paul and Bertie Soesbee, and his brother-in-law, Michael White.

He is survived by his wife of 42 years, Nancy Oberst Soesbee; their son, Ian Soesbee, of Newport; and his sister, Sheron White, of Chattanooga. He is also survived by his sister-in-law, Dottie Oberst Pruenok, of Rossville, Georgia; brother-in-law Joe Oberst and his wife Patty Oberst, of Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia; and nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his brother-in-law James Oberst and wife Peggy Oberst, and Darleene Oberst.

A memorial Mass will be at 11:30 a.m., Friday, April 24, 2026 at the Church of the Good Shepherd at 2631 Cosby Highway, Newport, TN with Father Pontian Kiyimba officiating. “ Nancy and Ian -- my sympathy to you both for your loss. As you know, Gilbert and I were first cousins, and we played together a lot as kids growing up in Canton. We always had a good time; he was a lot of fun. And I played my Sgt. Pepper album for him, and that got him hooked on rock music. My late brother was always complimentary of Gilbert's writing in the Newport newspaper because Gilbert was so fastidious. Prayers to you both. Margaret Doutt Foote, Richmond, KY

“ Nancy, I was so very sorry to read of Gilbert's passing. Since my retirement, I have not seen you and kept up with you all, but I will always fondly remember you both through my working years, and especially "Inherit the Wind" also. Those were some of the 'good old days' for us! Please know I will be keeping you and Ian in my prayers as I share this grief with you.
