“ Herbert and his brother, Haskell, were special friends when we were in our late elementary and early high school years. My family lived about 2 miles from their home which was at a much higher elevation in Midway. I would ride my bicycle to their home a couple of times a week after school to listen to cowboy shows like Roy Rogers, Gene Autrey, The Cisco Kid, The Lone Ranger, etc. which their radio received clearly during the 50's. I can't remember a time that we did not get along well. Their family was very warm toward me, too. We grew apart in the late 50's/early 60's, primarily due to my daily chicken farm responsibilities, my college at ETSU and later when I went into the Army. I had no better friends when similar age friends were very important. May God bless all of them, deceased and living. Lt. Gen. Hubert G. Smith, U.S. Army, Retired
