“ Greg was a sweet, gentle soul. He could always put a smile your face. He loved being a CNA, and his residents loved him. He loved his family and friends! We had many talks, laughter, and tears shed over the years. I will cherish those moments always. Fly high my sweet friend, until we meet again.....

“ My heart is very heavy as I sit here and read of Greg's passing. The very first time I talked with Greg was by phone. We chatted like long lost friends. He was so charming, caring, and sweet. We hit it off in grand style. Then he and Brian came to my home so we could meet in person. I grew so fond of both of them. I was so honored when they asked me to perform their wedding ceremony. We have remained close and I have kept up with them.

Back in the winter, when Greg was in UT hospital, I went by for a visit after Brian contacted me with news of his deteriorating health crisis. The three of us held hands and prayed. I don't think Greg was aware, but I want to believe he knew it on some level.

Greg is in a much better place and is healed. Brian, you will miss him so. My thoughts and my prayers are with you now. Greg is home and the time will come for a glorious reunion for you both.

Condolences for both his children and parents and family.

Rest high my dear friend and soar with the eagles. with love and fond memories.
