“ I remember in 2nd grade, I met Stacey, and he told me of his heart surgery, and I thought wow, what this kid has gone through.

I also remember how bad he felt when, at the fairgrounds, we were at a t-ball tournament, and were throwing the ball around, and he ended up breaking my glasses... and then later at LISEGA working together. Stacey was an upstanding, funny friend.

Glad to have been able to know him.
